

The figure below shows the roles that absorption, radiation, conduction, and convection play in maintaining Earth's average temperature.

Write a caption for the figure that explains in your own words how these processes transfer and transform energy to maintain Earth's average temperature.